Christmas in the Gold Fields

by Gary Noy

“... it was always a day that the gold seekers remembered well.”

The Holiday Season was always highly anticipated during the California Gold Rush years. The celebrations were pure mid-19th Century Americana, but with a twist. The extraordinary nature of this worldwide event and the fact that many who participated in the Gold Rush were young and far from home added to the intensity with which the holiday was celebrated. In its earliest days, the Gold Rush was almost exclusively male and the sentiment was a mixture of homesickness and “boys will be boys” revelry. Christmas in the gold fields could be a day of lonely reflection or frantic carousing, but it was always a day that the gold seekers remembered well.

A Gold Rush Christmas was usually an unassuming, often spontaneous affair that consisted primarily of eating, drinking, convivial companionship and entertainment. Although, in the mid-19th century, gift giving was becoming fashionable primarily due to the popularity of the practice in the Victorian Royal Court, Christmas Gifts during the Gold Rush are rarely mentioned. However, if there were presents in the gold fields, they were practical in nature. Knitted socks were always prized, as were scarves or mittens. In the towns where there were children, little girls might receive homemade rag dolls and miniature quilts, while little boys received tops or other wooden toys lovingly carved by their friends and family.

Presents and Parties

Often Christmas represented the only time when some people, both adults and children, received presents or had parties. As a result, the holiday held an important place in the hearts, minds, and memories of 19th century folk.

There are many accounts of Christmas festivities in the gold fields - most modest, some complicated, but all heartfelt.

Andrew Hall Gilmore penned an example of a humble, hardworking holiday on Christmas Day 1851 in a letter to his brother in Indiana:

Thursday night - 25th

Dear Brother,

“Christmas Gift to You.” Oh, I wish that I could be at home today. I think we would have a Christmas party. We would have the old gobbler roasted with a score of fat hens, pound cakes, pies, and lots of other good things. But the best of all would be the pleasure of seeing you all. Probably if we live we may be with you next Christmas.

I will tell you what kind of a day it has been and what we have been doing. It has been the most rainy day I believe that I have ever seen in this country. ... As we had no invitations to any Christmas parties: and feeling no inclination to go on a “bust”, we thought we might spend the day as profitably by going down to our diggings and working like fine fellows, even if it was Christmas and awful rainy at that. So Aaron and I encased ourselves in our waterproof suits and went to work .... We made $11.25 each, which was a tolerably good rainy day’s work ...

Christmas in Rich Bar

An elaborate Christmas (that was more a reward for perseverance than anything) was described by Louise Amelia Knapp Smith Clappe in 1851. Better known as Dame Shirley, Clappe wrote a series of letters describing her life in the Gold Rush community of Rich Bar, which was located in the Feather River Gorge. These letters are considered one of the best eyewitness accounts of the California Gold Rush. Here, Dame Shirley recalls the “Saturnalia” of Christmas 1851:

The saturnalia commenced on Christmas evening, at the Humboldt [Saloon], which, on that very day, had passed into the hands of new proprietors. The most gorgeous preparations were made for celebrating the two events. The bar was retrimmed with red calico, the bowling-alley had a new lining of the coarsest and whitest cotton cloth, and the broken lamp-shades were replaced by whole ones. All day long, patient mules could be seen descending the hill, bending beneath casks of brandy and baskets of champagne, and, for the first time in the history of that celebrated building, the floor (wonderful to relate, it has a floor) was washed .... At nine o'clock in the evening they had an oyster-and-champagne supper in the Humboldt, which was very gay with toasts, songs, speeches, etc. I believe that the company danced all night. At any rate, they were dancing when I went to sleep, and they were dancing when I woke the next morning. The revel was kept up in this mad way for three days, growing wilder every hour.

The Christmas Nugget

But the most delightful Gold Rush Christmas story is that of the “Christmas Nugget” recounted in William P. Bennett’s 1893 memoir of the California Gold Rush entitled The First Baby in Camp.

On Christmas Day, 1849, Mrs. William George Wilson delivered a healthy, 12-pound boy at Canyon Creek, near Georgetown. Soon a neighboring claim and the gold field grapevine had spread the tongue-in-cheek news that Bill Wilson had struck it rich and found a twelve-pound nugget. Most took the news literally, however. “News of the big find spread like wildfire up and down the canyon where hundreds of men were at work,” wrote Bennett, “At once, there was a grand rush to Bill Wilson’s cabin. Every miner was anxious to see the 12-pound lump.”

The Wilsons thoroughly enjoyed the moment and lined up the men at the cabin door. A few were let in at a time to view the “nugget.”

“Each of the miners loved being had,” Bennett recalled, “As each squad came out of the cabin, the men solemnly asserted that the Wilson nugget was the finest ever seen.”

For three more days, the joke continued throughout the area. Bennett wrote of miners who came from more than ten miles away to see the giant “Christmas Nugget.”

PRESIDENT'S BLOG
DECEMBER, 2018

Hello, fellow prospectors!

I hope you all had an enjoyable Thanksgiving!!

Thank you to everyone who attended the November Chapter meeting. We had elections for Vice President, Secretary and four Board Members. Congratulations to Jim Erwin, who is the new Vice President, Yolande Kragerud who retains her position as Secretary, and to Jim Irwin, Michael Torres, Brad Gary and Joe Wood who are our new Board Members. Larry Sharp remains an honorary Board Member.

As we discussed at the November Chapter meeting, Jerry Johns is coordinating our participation in the 2019 Gold and Treasure Show which will be in Portland, at the Expo Center, with set-up on March 29th, and the show on March 30th and 31st. Thank you to all of you who have already signed up to help with the show! As mentioned previously, we will continue to have a sign-up sheet at the monthly Chapter meetings. This is a major project for the Chapter and also a primary source of income for the Chapter.

We are also getting ready for the Chapter's annual potluck, which will be held at the January, 2019 Chapter meeting. The first organizational meeting will be held at Round Table Pizza, 16550 SE McLoughlin Blvd, Milwaukie, OR, 503-653-6444, on December 8, 2018, at 3PM. We have reserved the "meeting/party" room at the restaurant. Please join us!

We still need an Outings Coordinator for 2019. The Outings Coordinator will determine the dates and locations of outings/activities throughout 2019. Jerry Johns and I are available to assist, and other members will assist in running specific outings. Our goal is to have more outings throughout the year, whether they are on the club's claims or at other locations. Please give consideration to this request as it would be a great help to our Club.

We received a fun suggestion - to have members talk about how they became interested in gold mining or to have members tell interesting stories about gold mining. This is an opportunity to share information during chapter meetings, particularly when we do not have guest speakers. Please keep this in mind – in case the opportunity comes up!

Please remember If anyone has any pictures from our outings or other get-togethers, please send them to Tim Snyder @ wrshpmzshn@gmail.com.

I have been President of the Club for nearly a year and would like to know how you think the Club is doing and how I am doing. Please feel free to talk with me at a Chapter meeting or by phone or e-mail, or please fill out a card at a Chapter meeting - to convey your ideas, comments and/or concerns. This information will help me to do a better job and will help the Club be more viable.

Hope to see you at the next Chapter meeting on December 16, 2018

Thank you and Happy Prospecting!

The Ballad of Hard-Luck Henry

by Robert Service

Now wouldn't you expect to find a man an awful crank That's staked out nigh three hundred claims, and every one
a blank;
That's followed every fool
stampede, and seen the rise and fall
Of camps where men got gold in chunks and he got none at all; That's prospected a bit of ground and sold it for a song
To see it yield a fortune to some fool that came along;
That's sunk a dozen bed-rock
holes, and not a speck in sight,
Yet sees them take a million from the claims to left and right?
Now aren't things like that enough to drive a man to booze?
But Hard-Luck Smith was hoodoo-proof — he knew the way to lose.
'Twas in the fall of nineteen four
— leap-year I've heard them say —
When Hard-Luck came to Hunker Creek and took a hillside lay.
And lo! as if to make amends for all the futile past,
Late in the year he struck it rich,
the real pay-streak at last.
The riffles of his sluicing-box were choked with speckled earth,
And night and day he worked that lay for all that he was worth.
And when in chill December's
gloom his lucky lease expired,
He found that he had made a stake as big as he desired.
One day while meditating on the waywardness of fate,
He felt the ache of lonely man to find a fitting mate;

A petticoated pard to cheer his solitary life,
A woman with soft, soothing ways, a confidant, a wife.
And while he cooked his supper
on his little Yukon stove,
He wished that he had staked a claim in Love's rich treasure-trove;
When suddenly he paused and
held aloft a Yukon egg,
For there in pencilled letters was the magic name of Peg.
You know these Yukon eggs
of ours — some pink, some green, some blue —
A dollar per, assorted tints,
assorted flavors too.
The supercilious cheechako
might designate them high,
But one acquires a taste for them and likes them by-and-by.
Well, Hard-Luck Henry took this egg and held it to the light,
And there was more faint pencilling that sorely taxed his sight.
At last he made it out, and then the legend ran like this —
"Will Klondike miner write to Peg, Plumhollow, Squashville,
Wis.?"
That night he got to thinking of this far-off, unknown fair;
It seemed so sort of opportune,
an answer to his prayer.
She flitted sweetly through his dreams, she haunted him by day,
She smiled through clouds of nicotine, she cheered his weary way.
At last he yielded to the spell;
his course of love he set —
Wisconsin his objective point;
his object, Margaret.
With every mile of sea and land
his longing grew and grew.

He practised all his pretty words,
and these, I fear, were few.
At last, one frosty evening, with a cold chill down his spine,
He found himself before her house, the threshold of the shrine.
His courage flickered to a spark,
then glowed with sudden flame —
He knocked; he heard a welcome word; she came —
his goddess came.
Oh, she was fair as any flower,
and huskily he spoke:
"I'm all the way from Klondike,
with a mighty heavy poke.
I'm looking for a lassie, one whose Christian name is Peg,
Who sought a Klondike miner,
and who wrote it on an egg."
The lassie gazed at him a space,
her cheeks grew rosy red;
She gazed at him with tear-bright eyes, then tenderly she said:
"Yes, lonely Klondike miner, it is true my name is Peg.
It's also true I longed for you and wrote it on an egg.
My heart went out to someone in that land of night and cold;
But oh, I fear that Yukon egg
must have been mighty old.
I waited long, I hoped and feared; you should have come before;
I've been a wedded woman now
for eighteen months or more.
I'm sorry, since you've come so far, you ain't the one that wins;
But won't you take a step inside
— I'll let you see the twins."
